

WAUKEE CABINETWORKS

Installation of Your WCW Cabinetry

The kitchen, in most homes, is the hub of the family. It is where the meals are prepared. It is where everyone gathers before or after a busy day for a meal or just quality family time. A kitchen remodel can have a major effect on a families schedule and routine. Preparing for this event, and understanding the effect it can have is key. We often “joke” during our final client meetings that you will be excited to see us on the first day and excited to have us OUT of your house after all is done. We understand this and will go above and beyond to make your experience the best it can be. Here are some tips to help you and your family through the process...

- Keep in mind that things are going to be “out of place” for the duration of the project. The dining table may be the pantry for a bit...
- Realize up front that you have more things in your cabinets than you thought. Purchase and label cheap plastic tubs to store items until completion.
- We can help find a temporary location for the refrigerator and microwave...forget about the dish washer, ice maker, oven, and sink for the time being.
- Consider dining out or “paper plating” it for a little while. You may appreciate your microwave more than before!
- Seal off doorways leading to the living areas of the home. This simple step can help control the inevitable dust created and keep your sanity.
- The garage may need to be utilized for staging of cabinets prior to installation. It also will need to be used as a temporary “shop” to cut parts for the installation. Plan to be without use of the garage for a few days.

We will work with you to formulate an ideal schedule that minimizes the impact on your family. Our focus, once installation begins, is to complete all the steps necessary as efficiently as possible.
